Vehicle Posters Help Find Missing Children

Advance Air is proud participant in the nationwide Project Home Again program with the intent of locating missing, kidnapped, and runaway children. The program, started five years ago, has already been responsible for locating more than 60 children.

Posters of missing children from the local area are displayed on our service vehicles. While we serve our customers, we circulate these posters over a wide area in the hopes that the missing children will be recognized and found. Each poster includes a photo of the child, biographical information, and numbers to call if the child has been seen or if anyone has information.

The program is sponsored by the Mechanical Service Contractors of America (MSCA), a national trade association, of which Advance Air is an active member. This program will assist the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children in its nationwide search for missing children.

We urge you to keep an eye out for our vans and help us find these children.

Environmentally-Friendly Advance Air Recycles Mercury Thermostats

Don't throw away those old mercury thermostats. Let us recycle them for you.

If a mercury thermostat is damaged, it can release mercury into the environment. Even a small amount can pollute our waterways, marine and wildlife and eventually humans.

Many of our customers have recently upgraded their old mercury thermostats to newer, better electronic or pneumatic models. In the search to find an appropriate means of disposal, one of our industrious technicians discovered the Thermostat Recycling Program at American Refuel \(www.ref-fuel.com\). With their help, we are now able to collect and recycle mercury thermostats for our customers as well as the general public.

For instructions on proper handling of mercury thermostats or more information on our recycling program, please call Karen at 508-763-3738 or visit <http://www.keepmercuryfromrising.org>.
